21st National Technical Symposium - KALAM 2024 (12th & 13th September)

The 21st National Technical Symposium, KALAM 2024, was held successfully by the Department of Electronics and Communication Engineering at the Dr. M.G.R Educational and Research Institute. It was a two-day event that included informative presentations, interesting activities, and stimulating conversations.

Our esteemed President, Er.A.C.S. Arunkumar, officially unveiled the symposium proceedings.

To mark the opening of the symposium, Dr. S. Geetha Lakshmi, Vice Chancellor of Dr. MGR Educational & Research Institute, delivered the presidential address, followed by a welcome address from Dr. U. Jayalakshmi, Head of the Department. Our student secretary, Mr. R. Yokesh, a final-year student, provided a comprehensive overview of KALAM'24. Dr. V. Cyril Raj, Additional Registrar, offered his felicitations, and Dr. N. Ethiraj, Dean (E&T), gave a special address. The Chief Guest was then introduced by Dr. K. Sudhaman, Deputy Head of the ECE department. Dr. V.N. Mani, Scientist-E from the Centre for Materials for Electronics Technology, Hyderabad was the distinguished chief guest for the inaugural session.

The first day of KALAM 2024 featured seven technical and non-technical events, all of which were conducted seamlessly, with participants demonstrating impressive enthusiasm and expertise.
